

Ironic use of the term "Hotlanta".	Paper about Facebook or Twitter.	Questioner cites own work at length.	Idealistic young grad student appalled by hero's terrible presentation.	Meet Barbara Celarent.
Audience member flees because there are so few people present.	Stranger attaches themselves to your dinner group.	Author Meets Critics Friends.	Anti-Southern prejudice accidentally let slip in front of local.	"Bringing x back in".
Opening anecdote consumes all of talk time.	Ineffectual Session Chair cannot get panelist to shut up.	FREE	"Dynamic Panel Model."	Lonely exhibitor selling software nobody uses.
More than three office ribbons on name badge.	Non-ironic use of the term "Hotlanta".	Witness book shoplifted from exhibit area.	Audience members Facebooking during talk.	Shoplifted book from exhibit area yourself.
"My Question is more of a comment..."	"But why is this sociology?"	Hobbesian nightmare at book giveaway.	Overhear terrible advice confidently dispensed.	Love letter poorly disguised as question.